HOPEWELL CITIZENS TO REBUILD WITH BRICK

More Than 1,000 of 25,000 Made Homeless By Fire Attend Mass Meeting.

Hopewell, Va., Dec. 13.—Residents of Hopewell, at a mass meeting Friday night, made plans to replace with buildings of brick and concrete the flimsy mushroom town of frame structure that was swept away by Thursday's fire. The meeting, attended by more than a thousand of the town's 25,000 homeless inhabitants, also reconstructed the temporary government and took first steps toward securing a city charter. A commission was elected to have charge of municipal affairs until the meeting of the Virginia Legislature next month, the earliest date at which a charter could be ratified. State troops, brought here late Thursday to control the frantic throngs driven from their homes by the conflagration, still were on guard Friday night, but there was little for them to do. Most of the homeless either had been taken to Petersburg or Richmond or were being cared for in the few remaining buildings of the town by relief committees from neighboring cities.

Conditional pledges amounting to $30,000 for relief work have been made by the business men of Petersburg alone, and the Petersburg City Council appropriated an additional $7,500.

The du Pont powder mill with which Hopewell grew up in the last few months and whose employees make up almost the entire population of the place, was working as usual Friday, though it was necessary to bring in some of the men from Petersburg and Richmond and return them to shelter there at the end of the shifts. The plant was not damaged in the fire.

Lem Motlow Pardoned.

Governor Rye announced Thursday that he had granted a pardon to Lem Motlow, convicted in Moore county in 1911 of violating the law against the manufacture of liquor in Tennessee. Mr. Motlow was arrested and tried to test the law and the appeal which was made to the United States supreme court was recently dismissed upon request of Mr. Motlow's attorneys, thus subjecting him to the original sentence of ninety days in the county jail and to pay a fine of $250. The jail sentence only was affected by Governor Rye's pardon.—Tennessean.

Mr. Motlow is the owner of the Jack Daniel wholesale house in this city.

Dinner and Recital.

A delightful dinner was served on Friday evening Dec. 10, by the Domestic Science class of Bethel College.

The dining room was tastefully decorated in red and white, the color scheme for the evening. The place cards were white with miniature drawings in red, of the future Bethel.

The dinner consisted of four courses:

Grape fruit, chicken, a la king, beaten biscuits, peas in timbales, creamed potatoes, corn, oysters on lettuce leaves, pickle, and celery.

Charlotte Russe, cheese, wafers and coffee.

Miss Madeline Smith, one of Miss Bynham's most competent pupils, was waitress for the evening.

Covers were laid for eight, Dr. C. M. Thompson, Rev. H. E. Gabby, Prof. W. S. Peterson, and Messrs. Chas. M. Meacham, Bailey Waller, C. W. Garrot, H. H. Abernathy, C. E. Woodruff.

Following the dinner there was a delightful recital in the chapel with a number of selections on the violin by Miss Vergie Sellers, violinist, and Miss Virginia Pursley, reader. Both young ladies thoroughly pleased the large audience present.

ANOTHER YOUNG ATTORNEY

Oglesby Soyars Admitted to the Bar at Elkton Saturday.

W. Oglesby Soyars, one of Hopkinsville's brightest young men, who has been reading law for a year in the offices of Trimble & Bell, went to Elkton Saturday and successfully passed the required examination for admission to the bar and returned with his license in his pocket. Young Soyars is a graduate of Swarthmore College, where he took a four years' course, following his graduation from the Hopkinsville High School, in which he was awarded the class medal for oratory. His college course was shaped to the requirements of an entrance into the legal profession and he begins practice well qualified for making a successful lawyer.

Tax Delinquents.

An extra penalty of $1 for advertising and six per cent. in addition will be added to all state and county taxes not paid by January 1. This makes a total penalty of twelve per cent. plus $1.
